MARKETING CAMPAIGN PLAN

Junior Toes Campaign

A Books & Stationery Donation Drive for Orphan Children

BACKGROUND

Why We're Doing This

Every year, children outgrow books and stationery long before those items are worn out. At the same time, many children at nearby orphanages have little access to books, pens, or basic learning material. Junior Toes is uniquely positioned to connect the two — through the parents and children who trust us every day.

This is more than a donation drive — it's a marketing opportunity to show parents what Junior Toes stands for, while teaching our children a real lesson in empathy and giving.

01

Brand Trust

Positions Junior Toes as a school that lives its values, not just teaches them.

02

Community Bond

Gives parents a simple, feel-good way to participate in school life.

03

Child Values

Turns giving into a hands-on lesson for our children, not just a lecture.

CAMPAIGN GOAL

Turn everyday parent goodwill into a visible, well-run giving initiative — collecting donated books and stationery across every Junior Toes branch, and delivering real impact to children at a partner orphanage.

MARKETING GOAL

Strengthen Junior Toes' brand image as a values-driven school, increase parent engagement across social/WhatsApp channels, and create shareable, feel-good content for the school's online presence.

SOCIAL IMPACT GOAL

Collect a meaningful volume of books and stationery from every branch, and hand them over to children at the partner orphanage — with dignity, care, and proper documentation.

STRATEGY

Campaign Objectives

1. Reach 100% of parents across all branches with the campaign message.
2. Achieve strong participation — target at least [X]% of families donating at least one item.
3. Generate visible online engagement: shares, comments, and story views on campaign posts.
4. Build positive brand perception through a real, documented act of giving — not just a message.
5. Create a repeatable playbook so this becomes an annual or quarterly Junior Toes tradition.

WHO WE'RE TALKING TO

Target Audience

PRIMARY AUDIENCE

Parents & guardians of all children currently studying at Junior Toes, across every branch.

SECONDARY AUDIENCE

Children themselves — as active participants, not just observers, in choosing what to give.

EXTENDED REACH

Wider social media audience — parents' networks, local community, prospective parents.

SEGMENTATION APPROACH

By Branch

Each branch runs its own box + local display; tracked separately for friendly comparison.

By Class

Teachers involve their own class — turns it into a small, fun class activity.

By Follow-up

Parents who haven't donated yet get a personal reminder — instead of sending the same message to everyone again

SCOPE

What We're Collecting

B

Books

Story books, picture books, textbooks no longer used — new preferred, and genuinely useful for the children.

S

Stationery

Pens, pencils, crayons, and geometry boxes — new items preferred for hygiene.(useful for childerns)

KEEP IT FOCUSED

Sticking to two categories keeps the message simple and sorting easy. Use two clearly labeled sections in each box — “Books” and “Stationery” — so collection and handover stay organized from day one.

CREATIVE DIRECTION

Campaign Theme & Key Message

“Share a Story, Spread a Smile”

(Working theme line — finalize with your creative/branding team)

KEY MESSAGE — used identically across every channel

“Does your child have books or stationery they've outgrown? Donate them to children at [Orphanage Name]. Drop them in the Junior Toes donation box at your branch by [date]. Let's teach our children the joy of giving.”

Same message everywhere — only length/format changes per channel (social caption, WhatsApp text, poster copy).

APPROACH

Strategy: Awareness → Action → Amplification

1

Awareness

Announce the campaign on social media and WhatsApp — clear, warm, simple message.

2

Engagement

Reminders, teacher involvement, and behind-the-scenes content keep it visible.

3

Action

Parents and kids drop off books/stationery at the branch donation box.

4

Amplification

Share the delivery and impact story — turning givers into advocates.
